

Abstract

Embodiments of the present invention relate to a floor mat comprising a base portion and a tacky insert. The tacky insert may comprise a plurality of tacky sheets, each having a non-smooth texture on a top surface thereof to reduce glare or shine from light that is incident on the surface.